CONTRACT BACKGROUND

- The City seeks to support, encourage, and promote the public purpose of driving new business creation and job growth by fostering a sustainable startup community for entrepreneurs primarily in early-stage tech and tech-enabled businesses.
- In 2016 the City created a co-working space (Stoke) with access to resources to support entrepreneurship, small business development, and the development of tech and tech-enabled businesses and workers.
- In 2017 the City contracted with Hickory Rail Ventures for the management and operation of Stoke.
- The proposed contract is for one year with a not-to-exceed amount of $158,170

PROPOSED CONTRACT UPDATES FY25-26

- Added:
 - “Generate earned media” – Item was included in the work plan, but not the agreement.
 - Tracking economic impact (sales tax, property tax, etc.) of the businesses Stoke serves including competition awards recipients and member companies.
 - Additional reporting metrics
- Changes in FY 25–26 contract include removal of completed items and items no longer relevant.
 - “Revise the funding requirements for the EDP Investment Fund to be more inclusive of innovative startups that might not meet current thresholds for employment and capital investment .”
 - Investment Fund was updated in 2022.
 - “~~Launch~~ maintain accelerator program that focuses on women entrepreneurs in partnership with Texas Woman’s University.”

2B. CREATIVE DENTON

THE VALUE

Denton's reputation for arts and culture makes it a standout destination within the DFW Metroplex. Its cultural assets not only foster quality of place but also create an economic advantage. Over the past decade, a budding creative economy has attracted entrepreneurs to Denton, making the City a hub for big ideas and innovation. Denton has a vibe unlike any other community in the region. By continuing to nourish this creative ecosystem, the City can flourish and become a vibrant destination for talent and investment.

THE ANCHORS

From higher education to coworking spaces, Denton's creative economy is anchored by diverse and thriving institutions. TWU and UNT are catalysts for innovation and drivers of the City's talent pipeline. Stoke is the heartbeat of Denton's startup scene, providing a hub for entrepreneurs near downtown amenities. Embracing and strengthening these anchor institutions will not only attract growth but also ensure that the creative elements at the heart of Denton's culture will continue to thrive.

THE ECOSYSTEM

In recent years, a strong cluster of education technology companies has emerged in Denton. The presence of two universities along with strong support for entrepreneurs has made Denton an ideal location for edtech startups. Events such as the Denton Black Film Festival have also drawn tourists to Denton and strengthened community ties. However, Denton's creative economy requires additional support, including stronger connections to the DFW tech scene and venture capital. The City can nurture Creative Denton by cultivating relationships with DFW capital sources and raising public awareness of Denton artists and entrepreneurs.

GOAL 3 STRENGTHEN COMMUNITY INCLUSION

Align economic, workforce, and community development efforts to meet critical community needs and to strengthen community inclusion.

Many in the economic development field are beginning to recognize the importance of inclusive economic growth to provide opportunity for all residents, particularly those with lower incomes or levels of educational attainment. An economic development strategic plan that does not address how to deliver broader prosperity to all constituents would be shortsighted. This is especially imperative for Denton, which has a larger share of low-income residents than its peers. The median household income in Denton is $56,500, falling below the overall median household income in Denton County of $83,400 (American Community Survey, 2018 5-year sample).

Efforts to grow Denton's existing industries and attract new business investment will not guarantee that Denton's vulnerable communities will be able to share in this prosperity. Denton cannot afford to leave existing residents behind. Addressing the challenges and barriers that low- and moderate-income residents face will be crucial to creating a more economically vibrant and resilient community.

The City's Economic Development Department and Community Development Department teams already recognize this reality and are collaborating on efforts to expand affordable housing in Denton. This collaboration should be expanded on and integrated with workforce development priorities. Expanding affordable housing options and building career pathways in high-demand industries are two central ways that the City can align its economic, workforce, and community development efforts to benefit Denton's most vulnerable residents.

STRATEGIES AND ACTIONS

3.1. WORKFORCE COLLABORATIVE. Successful communities across the US are focused on aligning the needs of businesses and creating workforce pathways for residents. Denton should convene businesses, training providers, and nonprofits to work together in creating meaningful career pathways in critical sectors.

3.1.1. Build off the workforce collaborative, detailed in Strategy 1.4, to focus on workforce needs during the period of economic recovery.

- Convening a workforce collaborative should be an ongoing task of the City's Economic Development Department team.
- Connect any efforts of a Denton-specific workforce collaborative to the work of the DCWSLT focused on the ALICE population.

3.1.2. Continue to convene regular meetings with major employers, Workforce Solutions, NCTC, and other providers to identify business needs and connect unemployed residents to jobs.
